

The American Holy War

Free to do WHAT, exactly?

From the days of our first Pledge of Allegiance we're indoctrinated into propagandist falsehoods in America, corrupted in our vulnerable state by those we depend upon, conditioned to believe in a slew of absolute, immoral falsehoods, many based upon the idea that we're a 'free country' run by a 'free market,' backed by a freely-supported 'democracy.' None of that is true. You're free to believe it all, else you'll be freely pressured, coerced and manipulated until you conform to every prevailing form of falsity.

In truth, you're free to make the rich richer, to find every possible way to manipulate and extract from anyone and everyone and every place with less advantage and protection than you enjoy. You're free to be a mindless, reflexive over-consumer. You're free to be dependent upon chemicals sold as medicines that conceal and dissuade you from healing the source of your dis-ease and its disease. You're free to project your self-righteousness onto social media and be congratulated for your 'woke' political correctness. You're free to vote for a preselected, pre-corrupted puppet of the plutocracy and its continually-consolidating oligarchy, freely ignoring the FACT that where representation is sold, democracy is dead. You're free to measure your 'class' and 'worth' based upon how large of a parasite feeding off of people and planet that you become, and you're more than free to think of the biggest such piggly parasites as princes. You're free to believe in ideological and spiritual lies based upon misleading separations and cutthroat exploitations and tribalism and all the divisions imposed to keep the people from coming together, waking up and demanding actual justice, and a share in the ownership of the profits that they produce on behalf of the parasites. You're free to work for as little as the employment market will pay you to aid unsustainable extractions, all so you can hand those soft-slave labor wages over to a landlord, all the while building ZERO equity in your work or home.

You're free to write about and post these objections as I am now, because the massive media corporations that own and sell your resultant personal information simultaneously pass everything along to the NSA that spies on everyone under the guise of national security, often making under-the-table exchanges for influence in what's allowed to be said, and how it's said, all whilst those partnering mass media corporations are free to block and undermine everything you post and every related project that you try to promote, all with comprehensive impunity, without any recourse available to you when they take your money and then violate your so-called 'free speech.' Why would the Meta

Monster eat one's work, taking your money anyway? Because what you're posting and futilely trying to promote is the non-politically-correct freeing truth that the herd has been trained to condemn as offensive. The Meta Monster is simultaneously snitch and censor, the Captain of the modern day Thought Police. You're free to see that same monster as some sort of great modern beacon of free communication, freely disregarding the denaturing effects of trading human interaction for likes and follows. If you act against any of these 'freedoms,' society as a whole is free to 'cancel' you and shun you and force you to the margins of civilization to rot, poor and misunderstood, all because you're one of the few that sees the societal rot, and has the balls, the heart, courage and conviction, to speak against it, putting weakening pressure on the mental chains wrapped around the majority mind, binding 'free thought' to the dictates of narrow, self-righteous propriety. For, above all other freedoms, the wealthy and powerful are free to exploit every mental, financial, economic and political divide and vulnerability possessed by the people, all while freely convincing the most gullible people that the dividing demons are the freeing angels, their antithesis, cloaks of consecration concealing the damnation of the nation.

Just look at this country's history of intervention overseas and how it reacts to 'rebels' who see through these false shams of freedom, these empty parades, the few with the minds able to pierce through the propagandist smokescreen behind which the concealed crooks of this country continue their unslakable, parasitic plundering of people and planet. Everything counter-cultural is condemned and attacked and undermined, always with the assistance of the conservative minds easiest to manipulate into believing that the forces of evil are the forces of good. Just look at what the people in power and their governmental lackeys did to Osho and his following. Threat eliminated. Then, of course, they act to conceal the true motive for that elimination behind a mountain of defamation, allegation and false conflation with other so-called cults. The fact that Osho's camp is now a Christian youth camp tells you all you need to know; such an overt flag-planting, king-of-the-mountain display betrays the bald truth of conservatism: to conserve the forces of evil.

Welcome to the American Holy War. The dark side is the conservative establishment and its greed worship, the supporters of Mammon. The rebellion is made up of the Osho's, those who heed the heart and fight for the unitive wisdom at the Base of Being, and see through and work to counter the propagandist lies concealing the true, rotten values of this nation. Wild Wild Country isn't a documentary, it's a training video. Listen carefully, especially to the Antelope locals. They'll tell you all you need to know. What's a cult? Any group that doesn't bow to Christian conformity. What's a commune? Any community that forms around such a group. What's the answer to the Empire? More of such community. Where are the storm troopers? Flag-waving and goose-stepping astride Donny Darkside.
