

THE OWNERSHIP OF INFINITE OF ONE

How's this for transparency?

After attaining $1.1 million to purchase my father's property on the Noyo River in the Fort Bragg, CA area where I was born, and to pay off my debts and current lease in Bend, OR, every dollar of Infinite of One Publishing's share of its books sold (which is usually about $1 per book) will be distributed as follows:

PERSONAL

One-third (33.333 cents) to me, Nick Jameson.

FOUNDATIONAL

One-third (33.333 cents) to fund The Infinite of One Foundation. (See The Business Collective Constitution & The Living Truth for possible future initiative ideas)

INFLUENTIAL

One-third (33.333 cents) to those who have had the greatest influence on my life and writing.

Of THAT one-third, distribution is relative to the following percentage points out of 100, with last names omitted for protection (you know who you are):

For instilling the right ethic at an early age, and, Tom, for always being a solid friend, and as an apology for stealing your sports cards. Sorry for my klepto phase.

Post-Script: The Legend of Whole Brook

I'll give you a hint on the ID of the only woman I've ever fallen in love with, my foremost muse and bewitcher:

Her native name is Half Stream.

Because one whole brook is equal to half a stream.

I'll always love you, and never as a choice.
